THE ITALIAN DRESS OF THE 700s IPSIA “Luigi Cremona”, Pavia, Italy

During their second semester of school year 2016 – 2017 (from January 20th to March 20th), the fashion department students realized a project within the DARE2WOW project presenting the Italian dress that high-society ladies used to wear in the 700's in Italy.

The students researched and worked over this project during the first three months of the year. The work involved allowed for gathering details on how dresses at that time looked, the cuts, fabrics used, how they were worn and also the social implication a dress had showing status and wealth.

The dress the students created is composed by a corset and a skirt in turquoise satin. The corset has a squared neckline and lightly puffing sleeves while is tight on the bust. The skirt is wide and shaped by a structured pettycoat. To finish the typical 700's look the students realized a grey manteau decorated with laces.
